Work in Progress on the Iranian Manichaean Fragments in the Turfan
Collection in Berlin

Desmond Durkin-Meisterernst (Berlin)

This progress report on the state of publication of the Manichaean fragments in the Turfan Collection in Berlin will give an overview of current work on these fragments and indicate what editions are due to appear in this and the next year. One or two interesting fragments about to be published will be presented.

The second part of this report will contain a survey of the cantillated hymns being prepared for publication and add to the details already known about the presentation of hymns in a manner reflecting the way they were chanted or sung, the number and type of manuscripts etc.
