The Chinese Manichaica – recent and current research

Gunner Mikkelsen (Sydney)

The research of the Manichaean texts from Dunhuang took a major leap forward in the mid-1980s thanks to the publication of important works by Peter Bryder, Sam Lieu, Lin Wushu and Helwig Schmidt-Glitzner. Since then, research on these texts has intensified, especially in Europe, China and Australia, and more texts have been identified. This paper provides an overview of recently published work and ongoing projects in the field of Chinese Manichaean studies.
